

Dear Josh, Dylan, Alissa, and Kashif,

We appreciate the time you spent with us on Tuesday 4/26, and hope that hearing our stories has shed some additional light on the complexity of how to best support gender-questioning youth and young adults.

As we mentioned yesterday, ours are only 3 of thousands of similar stories from parents who are open-minded, inclusive, and are frankly exhausted by being labeled transphobic, when all we are trying to do is advocate for caution, and compassion informed by evidence and not ideology.

If interested, you can read more parent stories here: <https://genspect.org/stories/>

We also have a sister site, Genspect Unheard, where you can hear short-format (average 4 minute) stories from parents around the globe: <https://genspectunheard.org>

If you have additional questions for us, please feel free to reach out.

Kind regards,

Stella O'Malley, Executive Director
